Dear Sir,

As per my professional journey my learning is, Design is the foremost medium of communication and for that "To create great designs" is not enough. One should be able to articulate how the designs communicate a brand's vision and solve practical problems.

I am comfortable collaborating with team and clients on a project. I try my best to make the final hand off as smooth as possible and I am always open to incorporate constructive feedback.

I love learning new things and technologies and R&D processes, these days I am learning Photography and Digital Marketing.
